Sir:

With the hope that the United States and Japan are enjoying friendly relationships and you are happily devoting yourself to your important duties I take the liberty of writing to introduce to you one of our products which I trust must be significantly useful to your offices.

That is COPYSAFE, a newly developed seal to protect your confidential documents from being photocopied by others.

Enclosed please find a translation of our Japanese pamphlet so you may come to know details of this remarkable invention, which is the first of its kind.

The price is ¥580 per A4 size sheet.

If you yourself try a sample attached herewith on your photocopy machine and find this COPYSAFE really useful to you, would you please call or write to us.

Because of its nature We do not have the intention of publicly advertising this marvellous product.

Thanking you in advance for taking an interest.

Yours faithfully,

H. Nakakura
